Runescape – A Young Person's View

Note: This review of Runescape was written by Ruth Burden, an 11 year-old experienced virtual world user. Only the worst grammar and spelling mistakes have been corrected.

Runescape can be found at www.runescape.com and is run by Jagex, a UK based company.

1. What can you do on your own in this world?

You can fight creatures and people, do quests, cook, create furniture for your house, do agility courses, play mini-games (e.g. castlewars(capture the flag), duels, pop the balloons), make amulets,rings, and other similar items, make mage outfits, make armour. Plant flowers and trees and crops in allotments, go fishing, cast spells, make runes.

2. What can you do with your friends in this world?

You can play most of the mini-games with your friends, set up businesses like restaurants or pubs or jewellery shops etc. but you have to do it on your own accord because it's not got guidance to things like this. You can do most things together that you can do on your own apart from most quests. Also you have a special chat mode to just speak to your friends.

3. What makes this world different from other worlds?

You lose all but three items when you die, you can only attack other players in certain places, you can talk to friends without anyone else knowing what you said [and without them being nearby]

4. What are you 3 favourite things about this world?

- You can do what you want not just one thing.
- At events such as Christmas you can get special items or do special things.
- It's got lots of different places to visit.

5. What were the 3 things you least liked about this world?

- The graphics aren't brilliant.
- The only pets you can have are cats.

6. How old were you when you played in this world the most? 9
